- Global Environmental Governance
- U.S. Activism: History and Practice
- Junior Seminar (varied topics)
- Systems of Sustainable Consumption and Production
- First-Semester Seminar: “College is the Answer But What was the Question?”
- South Asia: Governance and Politics
- Comparative Politics
- Environmental Regulation and the State (aka “Thinking Institutionally on a Small Planet”)
- Senior Thesis Research Seminar

Semester at Sea Courses (2001 – 2014)

- 2001 around-the-world voyage (full semester): Introduction to Comparative Politics, South Asian Politics, Global Environmental Politics
- 2005 Baltic/Europe voyage (summer term): Global Studies
- 2007 around-the-world voyage (full semester): The Politics of Third World Development (while serving as academic dean)
- 2010 Mediterranean voyage (summer term): Sustainable Cities, Powering the Planet (global energy futures)
- 2014 Baltic/Europe voyage (summer term): Sustainable Consumption, Powering the Planet (global energy futures)

Advising and Research Supervision

- Yale-NUS College (2013- present): 50+ academic advisees in environmental studies, 12 first-year student academic advisees, 14 senior-thesis advisees
- Oberlin College (2011 – 2013): Five academic advisees in environmental studies
- Allegheny College (1993 – 2011): Academic advisor to students in political science, environmental science, international studies, and undeclared first- and second-year majors, with a typical advising load of ~ 40 students/year. Member of more than 350 undergraduate thesis committees (more than 90 as director or chair).

Experiential Learning

- Yale-NUS College (2013 – present): Frequent course-related excursions in Singapore on biophilia, biodiversity, organic agriculture, and solar PVs
- Yale-NUS College (September 2013): A one-week field-based course, with Professor Neil Clark, on “energy in Singapore” for 14 students. The course included a two-day palm-oil plantation trip to Malaysia, independent consultations with students, and a series of short lectures on energy economics and the policymaking process.
- Allegheny College (May 2000 and 2002, June 2003, and May 2004): Architect and coordinator of three-week course in Yellowstone National Park (Resorting to Yellowstone: An Exploration of “the wild” in American Culture)

Graduate Students

- Advisor/consultant to several NUS graduate students whose research and writing interests overlap with my work
- Co-facilitator (with Thomas Princen) of a two-day intensive graduate-student seminar on “Sufficiency, Sacrifice, Choice and Confrontation,” University of Münster, March 2013
- External member, doctoral defense committee, University of Calgary, November 2008

4. ADMINISTRATION AND INSTITUTION BUILDING

Yale-NUS College – Major Contributions

2013 – present	Inaugural Head of Studies (Chair), Program in Environmental Studies. Responsible for program design and implementation, student recruitment and advising, branding, budgeting, and faculty recruitment.
2018 – present	Chair, Search Committee, Environmental Studies – a dual search in marine science (one position) and environmental humanities (one position)
2015 – 2017	Faculty Moderator (elected). The moderator of faculty meetings is the only college position elected by the entire faculty. Elected to the maximum length of service (two consecutive one-year terms).
2016 – 2017	Chair, Task Force on Peer Observation of Teaching
2015	Coordinator, Comparative Social Inquiry (common curriculum). Led a team-taught interdisciplinary social-science course with ~175 students and 9 faculty.
2014 – 2015	Chair, Search Committee, Environmental Studies. Led the successful hire of three first-choice junior colleagues, one each in climate policy and science, environmental humanities, and political ecology.
2013 – 2016	Inaugural Chair, Academic Integrity Committee. Developed and implemented college-wide academic integrity policies and procedures, and coordinated the adjudication of 40+ integrity cases.

Yale-NUS College – Additional Contributions

- 2018 – present Member, Committee on Teaching, Learning, and Advising
- 2016 – present Social-Science Division 3rd-year Tenure Committee
- 2015 – 2017 Committee on Faculty Affairs (elected)
- 2013 – 2014 Interim Head of Studies (Chair), Program in Global Affairs. Facilitated program design/implementation and coordinated two faculty searches.
- 2013 – 2014 Member, Academic Policy Committee. Developed formative and summative teaching evaluations, and classroom observation policies.

Allegheny College – Major Contributions

- 2010 – 2011 Faculty Fellow in Strategic Planning/Public Affairs. Collaborated with senior staff to elevate the college’s national profile.
- 2009 – 2011 Planning Group Coordinator, Energy and Society Minor
- 2007 – 2009 Chair, Committee on Discriminatory and Sexual Harassment. Facilitated the reformulation of critical policies.
- 2005 – 2007 Chair, Academic Support Committee, Allegheny College. Reformed grant-making processes and increased faculty research support after an extended consultative process.
- 2002 – 2011 Multiple occasions of service on college tenure sub-committees, departmental planning committees, and curriculum review working groups

Semester at Sea

- 2007 Academic Dean, Semester at Sea/University of Virginia. Conducted nationwide search for 27 faculty, served as chief academic officer on a 100+ day voyage around the world (~ 600 students), and represented SAS at press briefings, dignitary visits, and special events at 11 ports of call.
- 2005 Coordinator, Global Studies, Semester at Sea/University of Pittsburgh. Organized and led a team-taught, interdisciplinary course (“Europe in the World, The World in Europe”) with 18 faculty for 400+ students.

Non-Governmental Organizations

- 2009 – 2013 Member, Advisory Board, StoryofStuff.org, an environmental NGO focusing on sustainable consumption and production
- 2009 – 2011 Member, Advisory Board, Take Back Your Time, a national organization promoting reduced consumption via the reorganization of work
- 2002 Founder, Meadville Community Energy Project (MCEP), recipient of the Governor’s Award for Distinctive Environmental Leadership. MCEP arose from Allegheny College courses on energy use and economic development. MCEP later merged with PSD Consulting, a national energy-efficiency organization.
- 1987 Co-founder and former member of the Advisory Board, The Pacific Institute, an internationally celebrated environmental policy institute
