YaleNUSCollege

Appointment	Lectureship in Theatre
Position Description	Yale-NUS College is a liberal arts college of 1000 students, with approximately 100 full-time faculty. The College is a collaboration between the National University of Singapore and Yale University. Yale-NUS students are outstanding, with an acceptance rate of less than 7%, and extremely international, representing over seventy countries. They go through a unique and rigorous Common Curriculum that combines Western and Eastern traditions with contemporary skills. The College invites applications for a Lecturer in Theatre. This is a one-year (non-renewable) appointment for the Academic Year 2020-2021. The successful candidate will be expected to teach at least five (5) courses - two courses in the Literatue and Humanities or the Historical Immersion component of the signature Common Curriculum, and three electives in the Art Pratice Track of the Arts and Humanities major. Literature and Humanities is a full year, required first year humanities course; this seminar-based class offers an interdisciplinary approach to literature, history, music, and material culture and art objects from antiquity to the present across cultural contexts. Historical Immersion applies the methods of historical research and inquiry to a specific period or event of cultural significance that may be studied from the perspective of a given discipline, such as Theatre Studies.The Art Practices Track of the Arts and Humanities major entails guiding student in the performance arts, both through academic study and in the production of a theatriucal performance. We seek candidates with a Ph.D. or comparable training in Theate Studies as well as related humanistic fields (e.g. Performance Studies, Film/media studies, History, or Classics) with experience in practical theatre and teaching. To apply, candidates should submit a full CV, a writing sample from their research or performance record, and a teaching portfolio that includes a teaching statement, sample syllabi of independently designed courses that could be taught as an elective, student evaluations, and three reference letters from academic referees. Faculty receive salaries that are on par with the most prestigious liberal arts colleges in the world. International faculty qualify for highly subsidized faculty housing, either on campus or a short walk away. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a multicultural city of six million that is known for its high quality of life and sits at the heart of a vibrant region.
